A Life Tragedy-A Nero-like Landlord and his Victim.

and his Victim.

The deepest tragedles of life are seldem written. The story of Medea is not the less interesting because of its antiquity, and does not fail to create a thrill of horror whenever read; but far more terrible dramas than even this are daily enacted in our very midst, although unfortunately they have no Euripides to give the heroes and the heroines unto the world and fame.

A single death, however sudden, fails to awaken an extended interest, and, outside of the circle of acquaintances in which it occurs, is hardly felt. Another comes and fills the vacuum thus created and the world plods on, forgetting in a little while that the Earth has murdered another of her guests. Sometimes, however, a person passes into the life hereatter under circumstances which, for the first time, causes him to be known and his history becomes a matter of general inquiry. Such a case occurred a day or two ago, and the interest we felt in it has induced us to relate it briefly here.

On Wednesday of last week, a young and on Wednesday of last week, a young and quite good-looking girl, named Josephine Morrison, was taken to the Commercial Hospital, in this city, but in six hours after her body had entered it, her spirit, freed from the clay in which it had been imprisoned less than twenty summers, took its departure for a life, in which we could fain wish it might find peace and rest.

A year or two age she met a man with whom she sympathised and in whose nature she found or thought she found all that her own se long had craved. She loved him and was botrayed. For many months they resided together, bound only to each other by the spell which he had cast about her heart and the interest she caused him to feel in her by the gratification of his nature's baser part. She knew no law but love, but to her this was allsufficient; for although she felt the thraldom, her chains were linked with flowers and they perfumed the whole atmosphere of her life.

It was not so with him. Time past, but as to her the bond grew stronger; with him it weakened; and just when most she needed the support of his strong arm, and the scothing tones of the voice which through the ear first found the way to her young heart, he abandoned her. She sought and found a room in a remote portion of the Eleventh Ward, where she thought to hide herself until girlhood could be lost in maternity, upon the boundary of which mysterious realm she then stood trembling with feer and anxiety.

If now she could have found a friend all would have still gone well, although the sun had vanished from the sky of her life. The chaste and silvery beauty of the moon, when in the West the Day-god sinks to rest, smilles on the gloom-encompassed earth, and bids the weary hope that some kind eyes may beam on them; but to her, in her descrition, they came not, and she slewly realised that she had hoped, had prayed in vair.

A month rolled by, and when the rent-day came, it brought her landlord with it, and both found her penniless and ill. The result of her intimacy with the man who had so caused in the unfortunate woman a violent hemmorrhage of the nose. After procuring the necessary certificate of admittance, he started for his destination; but ere he reached it great crimson icicles had formed, and pen-dant from the nostrils of the sick girl hung, while the wind, as if in mockery of the terri-ble picture it had made, shricked more bitterly than before.

No medicine could save her then. No physician, however great his power, by any drug within the knowledge of his mystic art, could heal her broken life. The soul, ever at war with the body, gladly avails itself of the first with the body, gladly avails itself of the first opportunity to escape from its earthly bonds, and feeling now that it was almost free, sympathised with its suffering enemy, and post-poned, for a few hours only, its final farewell. We saw the victim of this one of Earth's tragedies when her form was clothed for bu-rial. Her lips, where oft love's sweetest kisses had been were livid from the embrace of Death; her brow was cold and pale as marble; her face wore a smile as if the heartleasness she had met in life, in death had been forgiven; and the happiness which she had fondly dreamed her offspring would afford, she seemed to have found in accompanying it to Heaven.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE ON NEW-STEET—NINE HORSES BURST TO DEATH.—About three o'clock on Saturday morning a fire broke out in the establishment of Mesers. J. S. Haggerty and Nicholson & McCarty, undertakers, on the north side of New-street, a few doors east of Sycamore. The buildings were entirely frame, and burnt so rapidly that before the fire department reached the ground, although they were on hand with more than ordinary promptness, they were almost destroyed, together with their contents. Eight valuable horses were entirely constant fight valuable horses were entirely constant fight valuable horses were entirely constant merciful indeed. The stables, union adjoined each other, were very ordinary, but the loss, which is about equally divided between the occupants, will reach $8,000, upon which there is a partial insurance. The fire, it is thought, was the work of an incendiary.

MORE REPUBLICANS WARNED TO LEAVE MORE REPUBLICANS WARNED TO LEAVE RENTUCKY.—Mr. Charles Payne, who two years ago was a Republican candidate for Congress from the Tenth Congressional District of Kentucky, came into our office yesterday and showed us a letter which he had received at Demossville, Pendlston County, giving him but twenty minutes in which to leave the place, on pain of being dealt with as the citizens might think he deserved. He stated that he intended to return to his wife and family to-day, and we have no doubt he will do so. This farce has been so often repeated that it has ceased to be effective.

LECTURE AT THE ZION BAPTIST CHURCH. LECTURE AT THE ZION BAPTIST CHURCH.—J.
M. Langston delivered a lecture last night at the Baker-street Baptist Church, to a large congregation. His remarks were based upon the fifty-eighth chapter of Isaiah, and were attentively listened to until the end. He will lecture this evening at the Zion Baptist Church, on Third-street, between Race and Elm, on "Personal Liberty."

On Wednesday evening, Rev. A. R. Grow will lecture at Allen Chapel, on the "Bigns of the Times," and will doubtless draw a large audience of eur colored population.

Extra Hazardous .-- A book firm on Main Extra Hazardous.—A book firm on Mainstreet, we are informed, on Friday last, received a large invoice of Howard Rowan Helper's volume on The Impending Orisis, and advertised it for sale. As soon as the fact came to the knowledge of the agent of the company in which their stock and building were insured, he informed them that they would have to pay him one per cent, axira, or he would be compelled to cancel their policies; for, said he, "we can afford to insure no house containing any such incendiary document for less than three and a half per cent,"

CINCINNATI STREET RAILBOAD .- The Cincinnati Street Railroad Company have completed their circuit, and are now running cars its entire length, leaving the corner of Fourth and Walnut every six minutes. The cars may be known on Fourth-street, from Walnut to Vine, by their white lights.

Y. M. M. L. Lectures - Rev. H. W. Bellows on the "Sources of Social

The second lecture of Rev. H. W. Bellows on the "Science of Society," was delivered before the Library Association at Smith & Nixon's, on Saturday evening, to a large and cultivated audience. We have no space to give even an abstract of the gentleman's discourse, which was able and often eloquent, carefully and closely reasoned and well illustrated.

carefully and closely reasoned and well illustrated.

The main idea was that no person had a right to take anything from society for which he did not pay, or to take more than he could pay for. When he did either of these, he committed a social crime. There were certain things that society could not give, and which no man had a right to demand, and these were all infractions of order, decency and morals.

Men acted from, and influenced others, through their mind, which was purer; from and through their emotions, which afforded pleasure; and from and through their sympathies, which was the moral part of nature. When these were not properly regulated, men became evil, and when they were thoroughly ruled, men grew to be good citizens.

The passions were to be regulated by the passions, pleasures by pleasures; the lower yielding to the higher; and this was the true mode of education. Much was due to organization, but even that could be trained and directed to good. Crimes could be calculated authentically, and recurred in the same proportion and amount. This seemed to render the cause of reformers desperate; but proper remuneration for labor and intelligence, and the cultivation of the heart, would result advantageously to the community, and in time effect a moral regeneration of all persons who received the physical, mental and moral pabulum prepared for their benefit.

The third and last lecture of the course, "Criterions of Moral 'Progress' will be delivered to-morrow evening by Rev. H. W. Bellows. ered to-morrow evening by Rev. H. W. Bel-

Homicide in Adams County—Arrest of the Perpetrators in this City.

A week ago last Thursday a man named William Hodge, residing near a village called Rome, in Adams County, in this State, invited a number of his neighbors to assist him in raising a new building. Among the number was a cousin of his named Milton Hodge, whose wife, some time during the day came for him; but, as the feeling which existed between her and the wife of William Hodge was not of the most friendly character, they soof became involved in a

William Hodge was not of the most friendly character, they soon became involved in a quarrel, during which William kicked his wife out of the house.

Out of this transaction grew the difficulty which resulted in the homicide. From high words came blows and these aroused a demon in the breast of William, which could not apparently be quieted by anything save blood. Milton secreted himself behind a tree, while his consin armed bimself with a rifle, and, aihis consin armed bimself with a rifle, and, al-though he used his best endeavor to avoid the shot, the ball was planted in his groin, and he died from the effect of the wound in a few minutes.

The homicide at once fled across the hills, and nothing was heard of him until a few days ago, when it was discovered that he was near Sharon, in this county, through a man named Grimes, who made his appearance at Rome and offered for sale a portion of Hodge's chattel property. Constable Wykoff, of Rome, at once left for this city, and, procuring the services of Captain Wilson and Officer Bloom, of the Police, the trio yesterday afternoon went to Grimes's residence, in the neighborhood of Sharon, where they succeeded in arresting both the murderer and his son, who were brought to the city and committed to the Ninth-street Station-house, whence they will be taken to Adams County for trial. will be taken to Adams County for trial.

Probable Homicide at a Hagnio-A Young Man Shot in the Head and Nearly Killed.

Nearly Killed.

For some time past an ill-feeling has existed between a couple of young men, named Eugene Tratebas—known in some circles as Eugene Palmer—and Wilson Cobb, both of whom, it appears, are enamored of a woman, the inmate of a bagnio, on Ninth-street, near Baymiller. On Saturday night, about half-past twelve, Tratebas went to the house and found Cobb in the parlor, in conversation with the woman, when he immediately attacked, and, knocking him down, beat him quite severely.

As soon as he could free himself from his assailant, Cobb arose and ran toward the back part of the house for the purpose of making his escape, but finding the door looked he be-came desperate. Unfortunately the aggressor followed him and was about to strike him again, when he drew a pistol and fired, the ball taking effect in the left side of the fore-head and passing through and around the ekull Tratebas was taken up, and medical aid called in, but as yet they have been unable to find the ball. Late yesterday evening he was in quite a critical condition, and fears are enrtained that he can not recover.

Polics Court.—Judge Lowe examined sixteen cases on Saturday morning—a very small number—but none of them were interesting.

John Duval alias James Upton, who so heartlessly killed a couple of horses a few nights ago, in the stable attached to the Farmer's Hotel, was committed in default of bail to the amount of $500 to answer the charge of maliating destruction of property. charge of malicious destruction of property, before the next term of the Court of Common

Ann Nolan, who was arrested on Friday last, charged with stealing a bolt of Merino, valued at twenty dollars, from the store of J. V. Clutch, on Fifth-screet, was sentenced to the City Prison for a term of two months.

AMUSEMENTS.

PIRE'S OPERA-HOUSE.—MACRETH drew, com-paratively speaking, a fair audience on Saturday night, in point of numbers, but in quality it was ex-cellent. The play was admirably put upon the stage, and the scenic effect, especially in the banquet scene, was almost superb. The acting, if we except that of fair, Conway, who is certainly the worst "fiacbeth" we ever saw, was quite good, and in many parts offsctive.

we ever saw, was quite good, and in many parts effective.

The great fault of Mr. C. is the sameness with which he enacts every character he assumes; and "Macbeth," in the last act particularly, in his hands, instead of being a tragedy King, was considerably more like "John Mildmay," in a fourteenth century Italian comedy dress; for this really was the manuer in which he was costumed.

To-night Mr. Murdoch will appear as "Benedick," in Shakspeare's excellent comedy, Much Apo About Normene, with Mrs. Conway as "Beatrice." Mr. M. is too well-known to require a word from us, further than the simple aunouncement that he will appear, and this, we are certain, will be sufficient to crowd the house.

WOOD'S THEATER.—The petite, piquant and pretty Maggie Mitchell appears to-night at Wood's Theater as "Katy O'sheil," in the comedy of that name, and as "Caroline Morton" in the beautiful protean farce of the Four Systems. Maggie is considerable of a favorite with the habituse of this establishment, and will doubtless crowd the house to overflowing.

NATIONAL THEATER.—Mrs. Farren and her daughter Fannie Fits Farren appear to-night at this establishment, the former as "Lucreais Borgis," a character site piary admirably, and the latter as "Constance" in Sheridan Knowles's much admired but somewhat uninteresting comedy of the Love Chase. This attraction is certainly sufficient to pack "Old Drury" to its fullest capacity.

COVINGTON NEWS.

Police Court.—A man named H. H. Miller was fined $13 for selling ardent spirits without license. A negro named James Newman was held to ball in the sum of $160, for his appearance at the Circuit Court, on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. Two others were fined small sums for peddling without licenses, when the Court adjourned.

STREET BAILROADS.—The subject of street railroads is attracting increased attention, in view of the anticipated action of the Council on next Thursday night week. Several different companies are organising with a view of acquiring the franchise, and this friends of each are endeavoring to press their claims upon the Council.

A SUGURATION.—We suggest that the City Council vote an appropriation to purchase a load of straw to accommodate the hogs that sleep in the Court-house hall. They should not be compelled to lie on the floor this cold weather.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The Circuit Court will hold a term of two weeks in this city commencing on Monday next. It will be chiefly occupied in disposing of criminal business. MATRIMONIAL.—There were four marriage liceness granted by the County Clerk last week.

A motion for a new trial in the case of Wm. Beckley.

convicted of nurrier in the second degree, was argued before Judge Malion, by Judges Spooder and Johnston. The grounds taked were that the verdict was against the faw and evidence; also, because of certain rulings of the Court, and error in the charge, and that there was newly discovered testimony. In the course of his remarks, Judge Johnston said that jurors were getting to be as corrupt as the devil, and getting to be as bad as in the Northern border of Scotland, where they levied black mail. The motion is not yet disposed of.

Bytoncas.—Decrees of dirorce were granted by Judge Malion in the cases of Mary M. Miller's W. Miller, Catherine Schmidt vs. F. Schmidt, and Mary E. Pottit vs. J. W. Pettit.

Nich. Hersel vs. Mary Hersel.—The petitioner alleged habitani intox'cation and gross neglect of dury. Judge Carler has this case under advisement. Chiminal Side. The trial of John Kain, before Judge Collins, for the murder of R. Singleton, progressed. The defendant's counsel have set up a piece of insanity.

Firsal. Grand Jury Beport.—The Grand Jury in their special report state they were six days in session, examined sixty-eight witnesses in firsen cases, and found fourteen indictments. They drew attention to the insecure condition of the Jail, and suggest the importance of pressing forward with the work of the new one now in course of erection. They commend the vigilance of Mr. Shock'sy, the Jailor, in preventing the escape of notories prisoners. Adverting to the Lunatte Asylum sc Carthaga, they say the thanks of the community see due to the projectors, archetect and mechanics of this edifice.

The Indicanness.—The indicanous reported are as follows: John Leonard, mansimphor; Amanda Lindsay, passing counterfeit money; Judah Miller, areault and battery; G. Marshall, obtaining goods under false preteness; F. Miller, parjury; M. Glancy, passing counterfeit of the P. L. Williams, petit larceny; Geo. Hielman, grand larceny; Joseph Weiner, selling liquor contrary to law.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Oyrus Garrett vs.J. W. Sweeny. Judge Storer delivered the opinion. The action was to recover possession of real property, and the defendant in error recovered a judgment. Judgment affirmed.

John A. Williams vs. D. H. Mears. Judge Hoadley delivered a longthened opinion in this case—in which the action was brought to recover possession of real estate and damages for its detention. The Judgment was affirmed.

Abigail Lewie vs. G. W. Skaats. The opinion was delivered by Judge Spencer, affirming the judgment at special term.

RIVER NEWS.

The river, soon after midnight on Saturday, came to a stand, and yesterday morning it began to fall slowly, and to decline more rapidly as the day advanced. Up to last evening the water must have subsided about twelve inches, and to-day it will Probably so down more rapidly, though the river is extremely high, sufficiently so to float a vessel of the largest eito. All kinds of steamers can pass over the Falls at Louisville, and will be able to do so for some days. The Ohio continues to fall above, and all the tributaries are still declining.

The Landing was more active on Saturday than for two or three days previous, and freights were more freely offered. The Levee was crowded with beats, and bore quite an animated appearance.

The weather has mederated greatly since our last, and yesterday a general melting took place, the guiters pouring their streams into the river, which will aid to check the fall of the river at this point.

Freights have declined since our last, and are at present as follows:

Pittsburg-Cotton, 75c.: Moinases, 75c.; Whisky, 50c.; Flour, 50c.; Pork and Lard, 41c.; Pound Freights, 15c. per 100 lbs.

New Orleans—Whisky, per bri., 51; Ale, 75c.; Pound Freights, 46c. per 100 lbs.

New Orleans—Whisky and Oil Si; Flour, 60c.; Pork 50c.; Bacon, Butter, Oheese, &c.; 40c, per 100 lbs.; Keg Lard, 29c.; Empty Barrels, 30c., Horses, 310 per head; Pound Freights, 40c.

Saturday's Louisville Gourier observes:

The River was steadilly rising all day vertender of the second of the control of the control head; Found Freights, 40c.

Saturday's Louisville Gourier observes:

The River was steadily rising all day yesterday at the rate of about an inch per hour, making the fails navigable for all classes of boats to ascend or descend, with about thirty-five feet water in the channel below the falls. The weather has been quite moderate and clear for over twenty-four hours, the temperature barely at the freezing point at any time yesterday, and the ice and sone that covered the wharf and pavements was converted into running water.

wharfand pavements was converted into running water.

Saturday's St. Louis Republican remarks:
The river at this port fell one foot in the twenty-four hours ending at dark last evening. On Thursday it receded one foot. In all there has been a deciline of three feet, and the river is still falling. There can not be more than six feet in the channel out to Cairo.

The river is full of floating ice, which had decreased, however, resterday, and came down in detached fragments, and not in a solid mass, as on Thursday and Wednesday last.

We have no late news from any of the upper rivers. They are all closed with ice, and will probably remain so for some lime. No boat has left for any port above for some days past, excepting the Baltimore for Alton.

Monetary and Commercial,

Monetary affairs were active on Saturday, and the calls for Currency were unusually large, so nuch so that several bankers forced off their Exhange below the regular solling rate-% premiumo obtain funds to meet the drafts made upon them. At the Discount-houses numerous applications for loans were rejected. The Paper was good, but their means were not sufficient to afford accommodation. Still the day passed without any particular pressure or difficulty on the part of the commercial commu-

or difficulty on the part of the commercial community,

Eastern Exchange was infirm at ½ buying and ½ premium. Gold was in fair request from the country Banks at ½ premium. No change in Uncurrent Money, save in Illinois and Wisconsin, which was

The total exports of the country for the year, including specie and foreign produce re-exported, amounted to about $355,000,000. Of the imports we have no details. Our exports were greater in the fiscal year ending June 20 last than in any previous year with the exception of 1856-7. The excess over former years is partly in species and partly in domestic exports.

Friday's New York Herald says of Thursday's

Priday's New York Herald says of Thursday's financial affairs:

former years is partly in species and partly in domestic exports.

Friday's New York Herald says of Thursday's financial affairs:

"There is no particular change in the Money market. The demand is still active. Brokers are paying 5 per cent. for all they borrow; and very choice short acceptances go with difficulty at 65 per cent. Most of the first-class paper which passes into the hands of the discount brokers goes at 7823. The Shot-Tressure, however, reports a moderate demand for his tressury notes, which shows that the present activity in the market is not expected to last.

"There is nathing doing in foreign Exchanges to day; there is no regular steamer for Livergool or Southsunpton fbefore the Chunarder on Wednesday next, from Boston. The leading drawers are heavy buyers of cotton bills in the South, and it is safe to expect that they will be willing to draw next Monday and Tuesday on very reasonable terms."

In Boston the supply of Money is comewhat limited at the banks, and considerable Paper that a few days ago would have been eagerly taken, has been found into the street, where it paid 7 and 8 per cent. Nothing is done on call below 6 per cent, and there seems to be some contraction of loans all ryond.

In Baltimore there is an active demand for Money daily on the street, where it paid 7 and 8 per cent. Nothing is more there is an active demand for Money daily on the street, and first-class single named buyings paying collaterals for 60 to 20 days, 9 per cent. Is generally asked and given.

GRATES AND STOVES!

Any Style of Grates can be Set or Reset with this Improvement.

WE ARE NOW PREPARED TO FILL orders rapidly, as we have a large force of good workmen.

Have your grates set with the patent before cold weather, or you will regret it. It is poor economy to use your grates set in the old way, burning twice as much local as you need, and not obtaining half as much local as you need, and not obtaining half as much local as you need, and not obtaining half as wour money by reducing the consumption of fuel. It will save your health, by giving you pure beat and plenty of it to make your rooms comfortable in all parts. It makes your home cheerful at a trilling cost, which is soon saved in fuel.

We have now a full supply of the Patent Stovee, plain and enameled.
